

REFERENCES - SURVEYORS

To our valued clients: Marine surveyors are not regulated or licensed by any governmental agencies. Most marine surveyors, but not all, belong to one of two professional organizations, NAMS or SAMS.

Prior to employing a marine surveyor, we suggest that you do the following,

- Make sure the surveyor you intend on employing is acceptable to your lender and/or insurance carrier.
- If the vessel is of a particular type that may benefit from having a surveyor who has extensive knowledge in this type of vessel, do some background checking on this surveyor's success with this type of vessel.
- Above all, share with the surveyor your concerns and goals. The more they understand what you want, the better suited they will be to assist you.

Wishing you much success,
The Team at The Maritime Centre
